Justice Crutchfield Takes Determined Stand Against Those Who Use Them.

Justice Crutchfield eame down with a heavy hand yesterday morning on the illegal use of transfers on the cars of the two street rallway companies, and exacted fines in three cases which came before him. I Copeland, colered, who was charged with being drunk and disprictly and with fighting Conductor H. L. Vaughen on a Seventheath Sirret car of the Virginia Rallway and Power Company, was fined 420 and placed under $100 security for skey days. The trouble was the result of the attempt on the part of the nears to use a transfer given him by another passenger.

C. Manning, colored, charged with using an illegal transfer on the lines of the same company, was fined $20 and James Wade, colored, charged with being disorderly on a car of the Ritchmond and Henrico Rallway Company, was fined $20 and placed under $100 security for skry days.

Fell From Street Car.

Walter Tinsley, a young boy living at 1412 Chaffin Street, fell from a Glav Street can last night, as he is alleged to have been attempting to steal a ride. He was painfully induced, and inspectors who were called to the scene believe that the love learned a lesson. He is alleged to have sumped from the car as the conductor returned to the rear end to collect tickets. He was treated by Ire Hulcher, of the city ambulance corps, and was taken nearly all the way frome in the ambulance. One block from nome he asked to be put out. He thought he had better walk the rest of the way. Fell From Street Car.

shown himself favorably impressed by the Mills referendum proposition, to submilt the whole issue to a vote of the people. Practical difficulties in the way have also effectually answered some people who preferred realistricting on the basis of eight wards, even though the representation were reduced. It has been shown that an eight-ward redistricting, with a two and one representation, would require a charter change at the hands of the coming General Assembly; after that a charter change at the hands of the coming General Assembly; after that the passage by the Council of a redistricting ordinance, an ordinance fixing precinct lines and a resolution requesting that commissioners be named to correct the poll books. By the closest allowance it has been demonstrated that this could not be accomplished before the April primary, which would mean in practical effect the election next spring of another Council of sixty-four members, to serve for another two years.

Three Hundred Members of Club Are Voters, and They Stand for Progress.

> At a meeting of the Italian-America can Political Club, held in Baldacci's Hall Sunday afternoon, all the old ports of the secretary for the year showed that the organization is 200 strong, and that within the next few months promises of new membership, if fuilled, will bring the club up to a numerical strength of more than 400 voters.

The officers elected were as follows: President, Louis Biagi; Vice-President, Peter Bonini; Secretary, Louis Corri-eri; Treasurer, O, Puccinelli.

but that it stands ready to vote as a solid body should any issue arise before the people to vote for any improvement which the people deem worthy. Every member of the club is a voter, and committees have been appointed to canvass the Italian colony for all the other Italian voters in the city. The city has been divided into districts, and men have been appointed to work in every district, so that the canvass will be thorough and ments are being made to procure another hall for the regular meeting place, and all the attractions of a club will be provided. The Italians in the city, the majority of whom are voters, are said to number about 2,000. New arrivals are raturalized as soon as the legal requirements allow, and the Italian colony will present a voting force to be recked with in the affairs of the city.
